

Question Statement Explanation Sheet

The meal takes ten minutes to prepare and thirty minutes to cook.	What a terrible disaster!
What awful weather we are having!	What is his name?
His name is Kratos.	It might rain later.
How long will dinner take?	The volcano erupted and the ground shook.
What will the weather be like later on?	What a fast escape they made!
How did you escape?	They rode quickly away at the first sign of danger.
Why is it so quiet?	It was quiet.
What an unusual name!	How amazingly quiet!
How incredibly hungry you are!	What caused the damage?

When you are sorting, think about the following questions:

- Do you notice anything about what questions end with?
- Do you notice anything about what exclamations end with?
- When you are writing, if you use question marks/exclamation marks how does it change the way you read your sentence?
- The exclamations start with two different words; what are these? Why might exclamations and questions be confusing? How do you know the difference?